Vermont PBS Announces the 22nd Annual PBS Kids' Writers Contest

Colchester, Vt. – February 24, 2017 – For the previous 21 years, Vermont PBS has run its annual contest to showcase young writers. Today the company announced its 22nd Vermont PBS Kids' Writers Contest is underway.

Kids in Kindergarten to grade 5 are invited to submit an original written and illustrated story for consideration by following the instructions on the Vermont PBS website at <http://www.vermontpbs.org/writers>. Submissions will be judged by a panel of expert judges, and winners and runners up will be selected from each grade. Winning stories will be read by their authors and filmed for use on television and the web.

“Vermont PBS is committed to the education of youth in our state, and the Kids' Writers Contest is a fun way for kids to stretch their creative writing muscles,” said Holly Groschner, President and CEO of Vermont PBS.
